Dear Mr. Kettle,

Thank you ever so much for taking the time to submit my 2008-2009 tax return. The support and guidance was fantastic. Furthermore, I'm relieved that I averted yet another late fee.

As it stands I've left my full-time employment in order to further my endeavour to become a prolific property investor and developer within 10 years. Whilst I work very hard on improving my knowledge and skills it is the support from established professionals like yourself which I cherish the most.

I am sure that I shall repay you in kind one day. However, until then I'll just have to allow you to beat me at golf!

Enjoy the chocolate.

Kind regards,

Acharles
